MASS MEETING TO END WILSON D. C. FUND DRIVE

Rabbi Wise and Dr. Smith to Address Gathering in Masonic Temple.

Efforts to raise $35,000 as the District's quota of the million dollar Woodrow Wilson Foundation Fund will culminate with a big mass meeting to be held Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the New Masonic Temple, which will be addressed by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York and Dr. Henry Louis Smith, president of Washington and Lee University.

The campaign is being pressed to an intensive finish by the two committees, headed by Mrs. Kate Trenchard Abrams and Robert W. Woolley. A mid-day rally was held yesterday at Keith's Theater and another is to take place at noon tomorrow, to be addressed by Representative Finis Garrett of Tennessee, minority leader of the House, and Senator Thomas J. Heflin of Alabama. Today foundation workers, using automobiles as portable booths, will take stations throughout the city.

A special opportunity is to be given the children of the city to add their mites to the fund through a "Children's Hour," scheduled to be held tomorrow afternoon from 2 to 3 o'clock at the local headquarters, 729 Fourteenth street northwest.

FAY KING'S ADVENTURE IN SKATING ENOUGH TO LAST FOREVER

She'll Take Her Icing on Cake Hereafter, She Declares.

By FAY KING.

For years I've been looking at cover designs and advertisements showing healthy young ladies floating over frozen lakes on ice skates, all dressed up in tweeds and fairs, and I just couldn't stand it any longer, I had to take a chance at it myself.

But skating togs ain't like swimming suits. A dame can doll up in a snappy beach set and loil around on the sands all day without ever thinking of going near the water, but with skating you have to at least make a bluff at putting the skates on, and there endeth all fun if you are a tenderfoot at the game like I am.

I did learn to ride a bicycle, and when I was a kid I could struggle around on a pair of stilts, but that old whizz about an old dog not learning new tricks is more truth than poetry. My dogs just won't skate, that's all.

When I first got the things on I had winner's luck, and in trying to get my balance I shot across the pond for about fifteen yards straight, then cut a double figure eight and a few other things trying to get my balance. I challenge the champion!

From then on I was heading right for the danger sign, but I knew long before that that I was on thin ice.

It's a good thing I sat down when I did, although I couldn't figure at the time that luck was against me and I might just have to go on like that forever.

I don't mind telling you that as soon as I got my breath again I tore the meat choppers off my feet and crawled back to shore on my hands and knees.

I'll take all my icing on cake, if you don't mind!

But can those other babies skate? I'll say so! I never saw so many people hurrying to get nowhere like those birds skimming around the

WOMAN ASKS $10,000 FOR INJURIES IN D. C. LAUNDRY

Suit for $10,000 damages for alleged personal injuries has been filed in the District Supreme Court by Mrs. Fannie Preston, against William C. and Franz A. Bergmann, owners of Bergmann's Laundry.

Mrs. Preston alleges that while employed at the laundry her hand was mangled by one of the ironing machines which was not equipped with a safety device, resulting in her having four fingers amputated. She is represented by attorneys Glenn E. Feeney and Harry Cohen.

CROWN PRINCE HAD HAREM, GERMAN COURT ADMITS

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—The German court at Frankfurt, desiring to avoid a general scandal arising as a result of conditions in the German army during the war, has accepted a statement that former Crown Prince Frederick maintained a harem at his headquarters and attacked a young girl, eventually forcing her on the streets. The statement was made during the trial of a former soldier, who was accused of insulting the officers' corps, and the court accepted it as true, ignoring an offer to bring in all names if proof was insisted on.

"Oh, Hateful, Haughty America!"

Professing to work for the peace of the World, America invited the nations to the Washington Conference, where she has "tricked them one and all." This scathing reproach of the Tokyo Yorodzu gives the intensive form of a feeling of disillusion about the Washington Conference that is revealed in some sections of the Japanese press. "Hateful and haughty," indeed, is America, the Tokyo Yorodzu says, picturing Uncle Sam as "an international boor" toward whom "we entertain a grudge" and "have no reason to show good will." Going further, this newspaper adds, "limitation of armaments may be a step toward peace," but "a peace thus brought about is a peace without liberty, a slavish peace. Do the Japanese people wish for such slavish peace, after Japan has been kicked and trampled down by America? We are firmly resolved to reject such a slavish peace."

But not all Japan is so disgruntled with the Washington Conference, as we may judge from the widely circulated and influential Tokyo Jiji, which says: "We should congratulate ourselves on the success of the Washington Conference. It will not be too much to call this success a great undertaking to save the world. We therefore express our undivided sense of congratulation and at the same time thank the government authorities at home and abroad for their efforts to bring about the success." For more news of Japanese opinions regarding the Washington Conference, read the article, "Oh, Hateful, Haughty America," in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week.

Other vivid, accurate, timely reflections in text and picture of what the world is thinking and doing, as mirrored by the press of all countries, and given in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, January 28th, are:—
